FAQs

The sale of firearms and ammunition for sporting and recreational purposes will be temporarily banned in Victoria to keep the community as safe as possible throughout the COVID-19 outbreak.

A ban on licensed dealers selling firearms and ammunition for sporting and recreational purposes will be in place for the duration of the current public health emergency.

It does not apply to those with a genuine occupational need for access to firearms and ammunition, including security guards, prison guards, professional hunters and farmers.

This decision has been made with the overall safety of the public in mind, ensuring people are not unnecessarily storing firearms and ammunition during an extremely difficult time for many in the community, which may be compounded by family and work-related pressures.

It also limits the number of unnecessary firearms and ammunition circulating in the community which have the potential to fall into the hands of criminals.

Victoria Police will not authorise Permits to Acquire (PTAs) received post-midnight 30 March 2020 relating to sporting and recreational purposes. PTAs received pre-midnight 30 March 2020 that relate to sporting and recreational purposes and are still yet to be approved will not be authorised.

We understand this change has evolved suddenly, however, we would appreciate your cooperation and continued support during these uncertain times.

Please refer to the Victoria Police website for a copy of the Notice of Variation.

For individuals

Can I purchase ammunition?

If you hold a licence for an occupational purpose you may purchase ammunition. The variation to dealer licence conditions announced on 30 March by Deputy Commissioner Patton means that firearm dealers are not able to sell ammunition to licence holders who hold a licence for sporting or recreational purposes.

VICTORIA POLICE

I have a firearm licence with hunting, sport or target shooting or clay target shooting as a genuine reason, can I purchase a firearm?

Following a decision by National Cabinet, the Licensing and Regulation Division has been advised there will be a suspension of all firearm transactions including the sale, hire and loan of firearms and ammunition for the reasons of Sport or Target Shooting, Clay Target Shooting and recreational hunting.

This suspension, effective immediately, will remain for the duration of the COVID-19 emergency.

I have paid for my Permit to Acquire and my firearm, can I pick it up from the licensed firearm dealer?

Licensed Firearm Dealers (LFD) may honour a Permit to Acquire (PTA) where the permit has been paid for and payment or deposit for the firearm was made prior to the commencement of the variation to firearm dealer licence conditions.

If you have not already paid for a firearm, you will not be able to purchase a firearm with your permit.

I have a Permit to Acquire that I have received but not paid for yet, can I pay for it now and buy a firearm from a licensed firearm dealer?

Unfortunately, until the temporary suspension is lifted, the LFD cannot honour your permit. We advise that you do not pay for the Permit to Acquire (PTA) until the variation has ended. Once the variation of firearm dealer licence conditions has been repealed you will be able to reapply for a PTA.

If I am purchasing a firearm on my collectors licence, can my Permit to Acquire be honoured?

Firearms may only be acquired if they are to be acquired for occupational purposes. If you have paid for your Permit to Acquire (PTA) you may request a refund. If you have not paid for your permit your PTA will expire; once the variation of firearm dealer licence conditions has been repealed you will be able to reapply for a PTA.

I have recently received a Permit to Acquire and won't be able to use it now, will the expiry date of that Permit to Acquire be extended?

You can return the Permit to Acquire (PTA) to the Licensing and Regulation Division and request a refund if you have already made payment. Unfortunately, the expiry date of the PTA cannot be extended.

Once the variation of firearm dealer licence conditions has been repealed you will be able to reapply for a PTA.

I have received a Permit to Acquire in order to transfer ownership for a firearm from a family member to myself. Can a dealer finalise this transaction?

VICTORIA POLICE

A Licensed Firearm Dealer (LFD) can facilitate the transfer of ownership from one licence holder to another licence holder. All parties will need to be present to finalise the transfer and a valid Permit to Acquire (PTA) presented to the LFD.

Can I put a firearm on layby now and finalise my purchase with a valid Permit to Acquire once the variation to Licensed Firearm Dealer licence conditions has been repealed?

If a Licensed Firearm Dealer (LFD) is willing to facilitate a layby arrangement with you, yes. You will not be able to collect that firearm as a purchase until the variation has been repealed. You will not be able to hire or loan a firearm from the LFD.

For Licensed Firearm Dealers

Can dealers continue to acquire firearms?

Yes, Licensed Firearm Dealers (LFD) may acquire firearms as per the conditions of their licence. You will not be able to transfer these firearms to licence holders for recreational or sporting purposes by Permit to Acquire, hire or loan.

Am I able to transfer a firearm or firearm order to another licensed firearm dealer in Victoria or another state?

Yes – dealer to dealer transfers may continue. You will not be able to transfer these firearms to licence holders for recreational or sporting purposes by Permit to Acquire (PTA), hire or loan.

Can a Licensed Firearm Dealer continue to purchase firearms from licence holders?

Yes. If a licence holder wishes to sell or transfer a firearm to a Licensed Firearm Dealer (LFD) they may do so. You will not be able to transfer these firearms to licence holders for recreational or sporting purposes by Permit to Acquire (PTA), hire or loan.

Can firearms from a deceased estate still be acquired by a Licensed Firearm Dealer?

Yes. You will not be able to transfer these firearms to licence holders for recreational or sporting purposes by Permit to Acquire, hire or loan.

I am a Licensed Firearm Dealer, can I continue to trade my other stock, such as firearm accessories?

If you are able to continue to trade as a retailer in accordance with current government health recommendations and restrictions, then you can continue to trade. This variation of licence conditions to Licensed Firearm Dealer (LFD) only applies to the sale of firearms and ammunition.

How will I know if my customer is allowed to purchase ammunition or use a Permit to Acquire?

You will need to check the genuine reason that is printed on their licence. Licence holders with a genuine reason such as Primary Producer or Professional Hunter may continue to purchase ammunition or use a Permit to Acquire (PTA).

If your customer holds their licence hunting, sport/target shooting, target shooting or clay target shooting, or they are a collector they may not use a PTA or purchase ammunition.

Can employees of Primary Producers who hold a firearms licence purchase ammunition?

VICTORIA POLICE

Only if their licence has the genuine reason of primary producer endorsed as the or one of the genuine reasons on their licence.

Can a Licensed Firearm Dealer continue to facilitate the layby of firearms?

Yes. They will not be able to collect their firearm until they are able to produce a valid Permit to Acquire and the varied licence conditions for Licensed Firearm Dealers have been repealed.

I am a primary producer who recently applied for a Permit to Acquire, will it be processed?

Yes, Permit to Acquire applications for licence holders with primary producer as a genuine reason will be processed.
